BLEAK ICELAND REPELS THE YANKEE AIRMEN

TWO AMERICANS LAYING OVER FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

DANISH SUPPLY STEAMER, ACTING AS SCOUT, STUCK IN ICE

CLEAR WATER REQUIRED TO LAND THE BIG PLANES

(By United Press)
Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 6.—The icebound coast of Greenland today repelled the American world flight and Lieut. Lowell Smith, commanding the expedition, announced he and Lieut. Erick Nelson will remain here a couple of days before proceeding.

Upon word from the Danish supply steamer Getrude Rask, caught in the fies 15 miles off Angmagalik, depends the time of the start of the next lap.

The flight to Angmagalik on the east coast of Greenland is across a 500-mile stretch of open water from Reykjavik.

"We will wait for a few days and see what the Rask reports," Lieut. Smith said. "We are advised she is icebound and unable to relay supplies or spare parts. If the steamer cannot make port it would be impracticable but not impossible to fly into Angmagalik."

Lieut. Smith added: "The situation now is indefinite, pending the outcome of the conference of ourselves and naval officers in charge of the flotilla."

"Under any circumstances we most certainly will continue our flight to the United States."

Despite the ice on the Greenland coast there is a narrow strip of open water inside the fies at Angmagalik on which the fliers could land if they had to.

Meanwhile the airmen are residing at the home of Councilman Thorsteinson, a prominent citizen of Iceland, who has placed a modern, concrete, red-roofed house on a windswept hilltop overlooking the bay at their disposal.

Speaking of the successful flight along the coast from Hornafjord, Smith said:

"There were few difficulties, although we ran into a number of dust storms, one of which was apparently of volcanic origin."

Such storms frequently sweep out from the desert wastes of the interior of Iceland. The airmen also passed 40 glaciers.

WADE TO GET NEW PLANE AT PICTOU HARBOR

Washington, Aug. 6.—Lieut. Leigh Wade, who was forced out of the American world flight when his plane was wrecked between the Orkneys and Iceland, will be given a new plane at Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, and will be permitted to complete the flight, Major-General Patrick, chief of the air service, decided today.

Wade will follow Lieuts. Smith and Nelson across the north Atlantic on board the cruiser Richmond to Pictou Harbor, where the new plane, now at Langley Field, Va., will await him and his mechanic, Lieut. Ogden. The plane will be flown from Langley Field to Boston today and thence to Pictou Harbor.

TWO YOUTHS IN SURGE OF CRIME WAVE

ATTEMPT TO MURDER OMAHA ROAD STATION AGENT AT LAKE ELMO

FIRST ROBBED HIM AND LOOTED THE PLACE—POSSE IN MAN HUNT

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 6.—A large posse today searched in a drenching rain for trace of two youths who last night attempted to murder the Omaha road station agent at Lake Elmo, robbed him and looted the place.

Armed with shotguns, rifles, revolvers and pitchforks, Lake Elmo and Stillwater residents joined Sheriff Thomas Naher of Washington county in the search. Police of the Twin Cities were notified.

The two youths dropped off a freight train late last night. The station agent was alone in the telegrapher's room. Both boys were armed with revolvers. They entered and one struck him. The agent fell to the floor unconscious. When he regained his senses both boys had revolvers leveled at him. The cash drawer was open and $10 missing. The agent watched as the place was rifled.

"We are going to take you down the tracks and kill you," one of the bandits told the agent. They marched him outside, and an automobile approached on the highway. The reeling, bleeding agent made a wild dash for it. The bandits fired five shots at him but all missed.

Alarmed by the shooting, residents of Lake Elmo investigated and found the injured agent, but no trace of his assailants.

MINNESOTA IS ROLLING IN WEALTH

STATE TREASURER HAS MORE MONEY THAN HE KNOWS WHAT TO DO WITH

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Minnesota is rolling in wealth. For the first time in years the state treasurer has more money than he knows what to do with, and more is coming in to fill the coffers.

With the state bank repositories carrying maximum deposits of state funds the state board of investment has a balance of $4,000,000 and is seeking a place to invest it, according to W. H. Lamson, secretary. Municipalities which have been borrowing heavily in recent years are now practicing conservation, he said.

Goes Mad on Train into Cass Lake, Kills Man, Then Commits Suicide

(By United Press)
Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 6.—Two persons are dead and a third dying—victims of N. J. Lindberg, who went mad on a Great Northern train en route from Crookston to Duluth today.

Lindberg, whose home is in Portland, Ore., had been at Roseau. As the train neared Cass Lake he suddenly went insane. He grabbed a heavy wrench from a heater kit and went through the coach striking passengers on the head with it.

Lindberg leaped from the train at Cass Lake and disappeared.

He was next heard from at the home of Charles Richards, at the south end of town. Richards answered a knock at the door, and Lindberg asked him if he was a member of the American Legion. Richards answered in the affirmative. The insane man then struck him over the head with the wrench, dragged his body into the yard, and beat Richards' head to pulp, leaving him dead.

Lindberg then went to the home of Nick Schauter south of Cass Lake, ransacked the house, and obtained firearms and ammunition. The Floyd Whitman farmhouse also was robbed, of guns and knives.

Roy Jondahl, Cass Lake, was Lindberg's next victim. Jondahl and Severen Hole were looking for the madman at a place three miles south of town, when they heard the fire whistle blow in Cass Lake. They thought it a signal that the man had been found and stopped to talk to a heavily armed stranger whom they believed a member of the searching party.

"Wonder if they have found him," queried Jondahl.

"No, they haven't," replied Lindberg as he opened fire with his gun. Jondahl was struck in the groin. He returned the fire and struck Lindberg in the hip. Jondahl was struck in the stomach by another bullet. Lindberg then turned his gun upon himself and committed suicide. Jondahl was rushed to a hospital here.

Passengers on the train injured by Lindberg's wrench included T. J. Evans, train conductor. The injured passengers, none of them in serious condition, continued on toward Duluth. Lindberg was between 40 and 50 years old, well dressed, and carried $600 on his person.

LEGION ASKS QUICK TRIAL OF C. R. FORBES

FORMER HEAD OF U. S. VETERANS' BUREAU UNDER INDICTMENT

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION OF CONDUCT OF HOSPITALS DEMANDED

(By United Press)
St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 6.—The Minnesota American Legion today demanded immediate trial for C. R. Forbes, former head of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, under indictment for alleged irregularities in administration of veterans' relief.

A thorough investigation of the conduct of hospitals by the Veterans' Bureau was demanded in a resolution adopted at this morning's session. Committees will be named as soon as officers are elected to probe the entire matter of veterans' hospitalization.

The Legion avoided the much-looked for wet and dry fight when it went on record asking that the St. Paul national convention of the Legion next month "be a law-abiding and law-respecting convention." One St. Paul post had made an attempt to put the Legion on record against the return of light wines and beer.

Stimulation of permanent peace plans was urged in a resolution which closely followed one endorsing national defense day. The observance of Mobilization Day was urged "not as a menace to our international peace but rather as a public review of our military resources for national defense."

The resolution concerning investigation of the Veterans' Bureau's activities followed the report of Stafford King, state adjutant, in which he described alleged irregularities in treatment of disabled veterans.

The 19-year-old husband and his 17-year-old wife pleaded for the baby, but the judge ruled that they could not have the child until they have proved that they deserve it. CRYING INSISTENCE ON SPEEDY NEGOTIATIONS COMPLIED WITH

(By United Press)
London, Aug. 6.—The German delegation worked until dawn today completing its reply to the documents received from the Allies at yesterday's plenary session of the reparations conference.

It is understood that Chancellor Marx and his colleagues made an immediate concession of a minor character, changing their original plan in order not to block proceedings and assist in speeding up the work of the conference. For instance, instead of submitting a series of counter-proposals they decided to confine their reply to detailed criticisms of the allied protocol.

The answers were to be ready for the plenary session today. Thus Germany's first gesture at London was one of co-operation in the crying insistence upon speed.

FALLS

(By United Press)
Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 6.—W. E. Winter wanted to marry the heiress of an estate he handled and the girl threw him down.

He is a middle-aged man and a well-known citizen. He filed suit today in district court for $6,000 to assuage his regret over the girl's refusal to keep an alleged promise to accompany him to the altar. The girl is Mary Seely, barely 17, and pretty.

Winter was administrator of the estate of the girl's mother. He asserted she broke their engagement because of the objections of an aunt of the girl. She heaped insults upon him and his wealth has been affected by the shattering of his romance, Winter charged.

BABY UNTIL THEY PROVE CAPABILITY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Clarence and Neva Epton, youthful parents who left their baby on a St. Paul doorstep so they could keep their automobile, won't go to jail for desertion but they can't have the baby unless they show that they deserve it.

This was the edict of Judge G. M. Orr yesterday when they were placed on probation and he gave them a suspended sentence of 90 days. The 19-year-old husband and his 17-year-old wife pleaded for the baby, but the judge ruled that they could not have the child until they have proved that they deserve it. It is now at the City Hospital.

London, Aug. 6.—The German delegation worked until dawn today completing its reply to the documents received from the Allies at yesterday's plenary session of the reparations conference.

It is understood that Chancellor Marx and his colleagues made an immediate concession of a minor character, changing their original plan in order not to block proceedings and assist in speeding up the work of the conference. For instance, instead of submitting a series of counter-proposals they decided to confine their reply to detailed criticisms of the allied protocol.

The answers were to be ready for the plenary session today. Thus Germany's first gesture at London was one of co-operation in the crying insistence upon speed.

KU KLUX KLAN
ISSUE IN OKLAHOMA

(By United Press)
Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 6.—The Ku Klux Klan issue in Oklahoma remained unsettled today with incomplete returns in Tuesday's primary showing ex-Governor Jack Walton and Congressman E. B. Howard running a close contest for the democratic nomination for United States senator.

Howard had the support of the Klan and received 26,872 votes in returns from 857 precincts of the 2,996 in the state. Walton, who stumped the state crying down the hooded order, polled 26,396.

Other candidates, none of them anti-Klan, ran as follows: Charles J. Wrightman, 19,343; former U. S. Senator Thomas P. Gore, 18,084, and P. Freeling, 4,586.

OF 'SHOW ME' STATE

(By United Press)
St. Louis, Aug. 6.—Sam A. Baker, republican, former state superintendent of schools and Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, democrat, banker and farmer, will fight it out for the governorship of Missouri this November, based on returns today from 1,922 of the state's 3,978 precincts in yesterday's primary.

Judge H. S. Priest who injected the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition issues into the democratic campaign by hotly opposing both carried St. Louis by a big majority but failed to poll an appreciable vote in the rural districts and in Kansas City.

(By United Press)
Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 6.—Richard Loeb struck the fatal blow that caused the death of Robert Franks, it was revealed for the first time today in the judicial hearing of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb. Bernard Glueck, psychoanalyst of New York, alienist for the defense, made the revelation today. Up to this time each boy had blamed the other for the actual attack upon Robert with the taped chisel. Heretofore other doctors had said they believed Loeb dealt the blow.

John F. Woodhead, president of the Woodhead Motor Company, has returned from a visit to Detroit, bringing with him the latest Ford story.

"This story, in a word," said Mr.
Woodhead, "is one of the vast resources, unmatched by any other industry in any age, applied to the manufacture of cars, trucks and tractors with an efficiency and economy such as no other manufacturing in-

Mr. Woodhead noticed a great many improvements and additions to the Ford industries in and surrounding Detroit. The River Rouge plant, said to be the world's largest industrial unit, is located just west of Detroit covering 1,100 acres. Here are located the blast furnaces, the world's largest foundry, steel furnaces, the Fordson tractor plant,

INTERNATIONAL FALLS PAPER MAKERS STRIKE

International Falls, Aug. 6.—No-negotiations that have been pending the past two months between local unions and the Backus interests, owners of the Minnesota & Ontario
Paper company, came to a head Monday morning when the paper makers were ordered out on strike on receipt of a wire from the local secretary now in Minneapolis.

A committee from the local unions went to Minneapolis Saturday to confer with President E. W. Backus, hoping to secure signatures to this year's contracts. It is understood the company made a counter proposition, which when put up to the men here, did not seem to meet with their approval, hence the order to walk out.

The pulp and sulphite workers as well as electricians and carpenters at the paper mill are still working,
but it is said they will go out later.
About 120 men are affected so far, the mill having been running three eight-hour shifts.

Nearly all the men on strike are residents of International Falls with families and homes here. It is understood that recognition of the Kenora mill union seems to be the main contention. The strike is expected to soon affect the International Lumber company, another Backus interest here, as well as the M. D. & W. Railway company. If all go out about 1,200 men will be affected.

Britton to handle and distribute all accessories and machines, used in conjunction with the Fordson tractor and truck, has grown rapidly. SPRING WHEAT

MAY RUN GOOD

Estimated That Production of 10 Bushels Per Acre Last Year May Be Exceeded in 1924

MAY YIELD 18 BUSHEL PER ACRE

Harvesting of the Wheat in This County May Start on or About August 15th

Spring wheat looks good in Crow Wing county and the yield of 1923, when it ran 10 bushels to the acre, will be largely exceeded this year, as all indications point to a crop running 18 bushels to the acre. Last year's production, said G. E. Senn, well known wheat buyer, ran 3,000 bushels and this year is expected to reach 5,000 bushels.

There is no sign of rust, or any other indication of possible damage to the crop. During the war period Crow Wing county raised considerable wheat, but with the falling market of other years and the advance in diversified farming, wheat lost its position.

Corn is from 25 to 30 days backward and may not attain maturity.

BOY DROWNED AT ROYALTON

Royalton, Aug. 6.—Peter Selinski, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Selinski of Royalton, was drowned while in swimming about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the old dam site in the Platte river at Royalton. The boy was accompanied by another lad about his own age who gave the alarm when his companion failed to appear after going into the water. The body was recovered a short time later but too late to save the boy's life. Coroner Brown of Little Falls was called to examine the body.

Husband of Taft's Niece Gets $75,000 Liquor Stock Back

New York, Aug. 6.—Prohibition agents turned liquor delivery men when they returned $75,000 worth of liquor to the home of Hugo Gilbert de Fritsch, whose wife is a niece of Chief Justice Taft of the United States supreme court.

At the same time it was announced Robert J. Owen, prohibition agent, who seized the booze at the De Fritsch home, had been dismissed from the service.

The liquor, taken in a raid, was returned because the district attorney and the chief prohibition agent learned it was pre-prohibition stock.

The Ford Motor Co. is conducting a "Better Service" week in the cities this week, for its dealers throughout the Northwestern territory, a certain block of dealers being in attendance on specified days.

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Although she was divorced 18 years ago, Mrs. Johanna Larson, 1286 Randolph st., has petitioned Hennepin County District Judge E. A. Montgomery to be awarded her former husband's estate.

When Louis Larson, the husband, died in Aug. 1918, no heirs were found so his estate of $135.92 went to the state. Mrs. Larson declares that she and her two daughters, Judith and Caroline, are the legal heirs. A son, Louis Larson, Jr., died in 1916.

Preparations are being made for the summer outing of the Girl Scouts which is to be held at the Boy Scout camp near Merrifield for one week, starting Thursday.

Three troops of Girl Scouts, two from Brainerd and one from Barrows, thirty-seven girls in all, will enjoy the outing under the leadership of Miss Thora Ingebritson and Miss Alice Johnstone as captains.

The girls will receive valuable instructions on this camping trip as well as the recreational advantages of the outing. Miss Alice Petrabor, physical training instructor in the Chicago schools, will act as recreational and athletic director of the camp.

There will be swimming classes, instruction in first aid and the care of the sick, and during the last days of the camp a special instructor has been secured for teaching the girls woodcraft.

The Scouts are especially grateful to the Brainerd Public Library, which institution is donating books for use at the camp.

Friends and relatives of the girls are cordially invited to visit the camp during visitors days that will be announced later. Many will be surprised at the proportions which the camp has assumed. It is in reality a miniature tented city. There are four sleeping tents for the Scouts, an officers' tent, the office tent, mess tent and kitchen, and several other tents will be set up for emergency use.

Miss Ella Newgord, who has earned an enviable reputation as chef in several similar camps, will attend to the culinary requirements of the girls, which assures them of excellent food, well prepared.

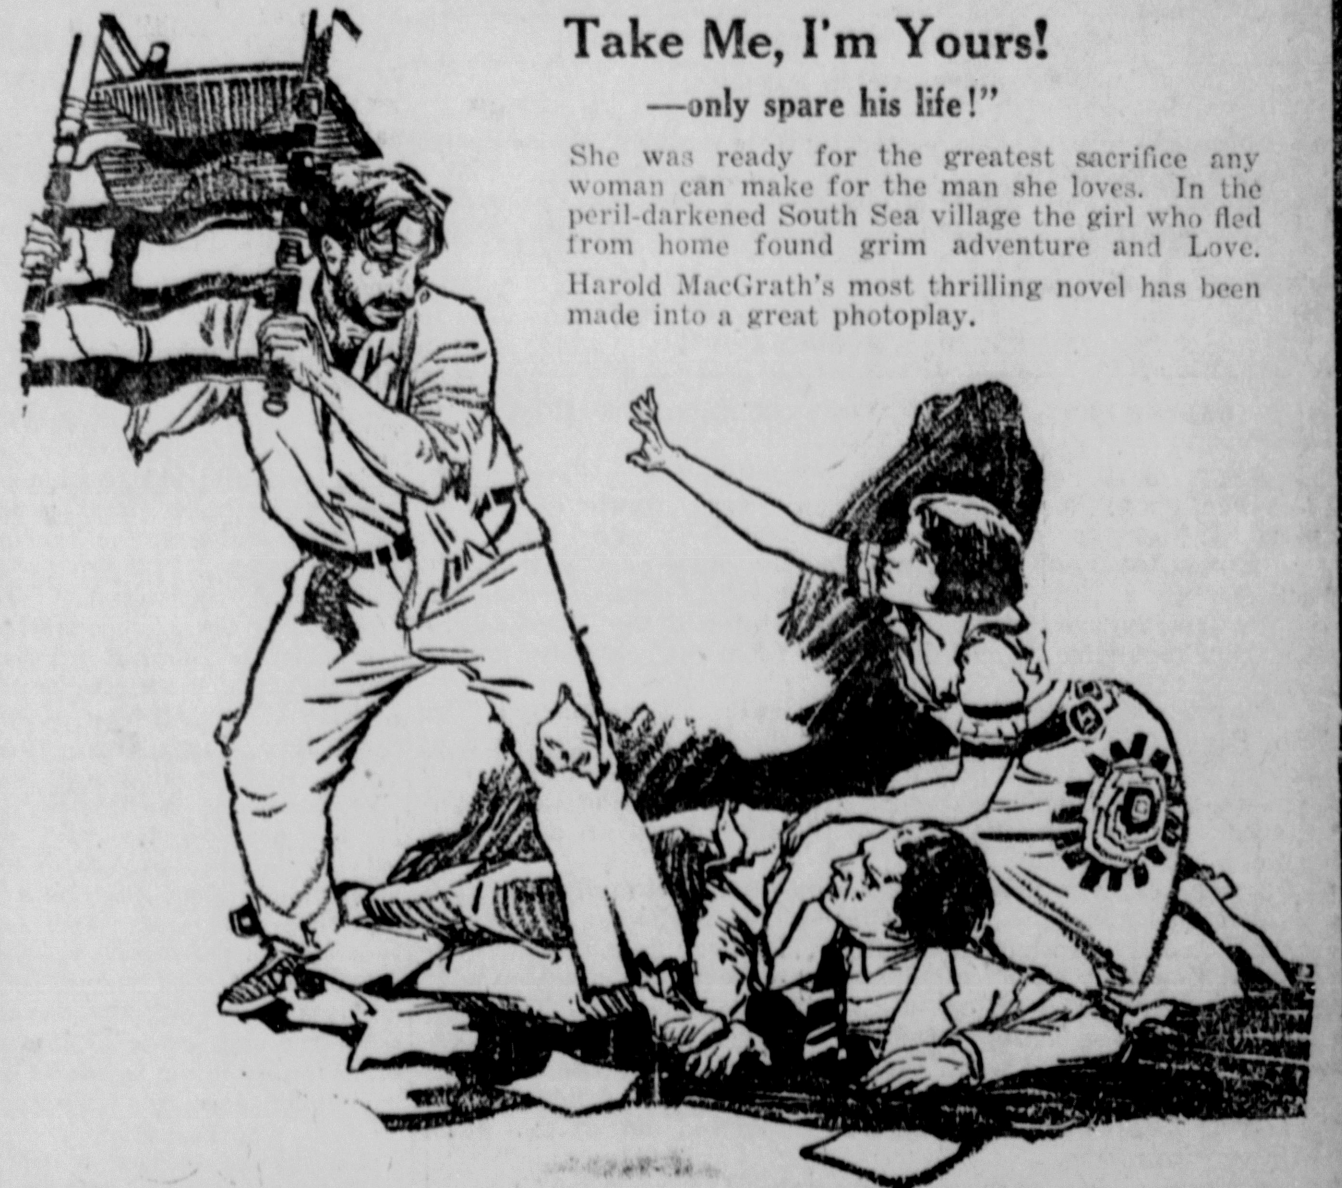

A phonograph with plenty of records has been donated for the girls' use and one of the local physicians has offered to give his professional services without charge, should they be needed.

HALTED FROM REMOVING COMMERCIAL SIGN BOARDS

AFTER local merchants submitted without a murmur to the law which prohibited commercial sign boards from cluttering up the trunk highways of the state, and saw their signs which cost good money taken off the highway by the State Highway department, comes a certain Automatic Signal Advertising company and gets a temporary court order restraining Commissioner Babcock from removing their contraptions from the roadway right of way.

Why the exception in favor of the automatic company? The State Highway Commission has the right and does exercise it of marking its highways as they refer to curves, crossroads, highway numbers, schools, springs, dangerous curves, etc., and the motorist heeds such a warning because it comes from an authorized source.

No one else, no matter what kind of an automatic signal is provided, has any business getting on the highways and duplicating the road directions of the State Highway department. The fact that they may have contracted for advertising space on such automatic signs has nothing to do with the question. The merchants of Brainerd had any amount of advertising signs on highway rights of way and when they were removed by the Highway department, why, that was the end of that style of advertising. What was medicine for us can also be served out to this automatic sign company.

QUESTIONS ASKED OF APPLICANTS FOR CITIZENSHIP

How many native Americans can answer off-hand some of the questions leveled at applicants for citizenship? It would pay native Americans to attend these citizenship examinations held and keep mental track of their own answers and just see what a percentage of bullseyes they would score.

Who is the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court? Name the members of the President's cabinet. We doubt if eight out of ten men or women can do this correctly without reinforcement of their first hazard of a reply.

And the question, "Did you come over in one boat or two boats?" is not as funny as it sounds, for the immigrant may have touched at two ports before setting foot in the U. S. A.

What government did America have before the Constitution was adopted?

Who makes the laws? How is the President of the United States elected?

We even have people in this country who think they are naturalized and believe they are American citizens, when in fact they are still foreigners.

OH, HE IS SUCH A STUBBORN MAN!

THE other day a Nebraska newspaper man visited the Dispatch office and in referring to a prominent politician said the latter's own wife had admitted to friends that her husband was one of the most stubborn men, when he made up his mind it became set as in a mold of concrete and that nothing could move him contrariwise.

This is nothing so detrimental to the politician in question. The plaint of some wives that they have sthborn husbands is nothing new. If every husband yielded to every whim of his wife, the gentleman in question would land in that ignominious class of spouses called henpecked.

To make a perfect balance in things, matrimonial the ideal temperament governing this union is a little dash of independence on both sides. There must be mutual concessions and a little regard for the opinions of each.

EDITOR LEE of the Long Prairie Leader and Editor Haymaker of the Motley Mercury are having a lengthy argument over the merits of a minister in their section of the state. Neither being experts, says the Bemidji Daily Pioneer, the suggestion is made that Asa Wallace of Sauk Centre be given an opportunity to hear the pastor in question and render a decision. Why not, may we add, have the minister write out a sample sermon and let the three papers in question publish it and let the readers decide by popular vote. We know Asa Wallace as a good judge of things temporal and earthy, but we doubt about his ability to weigh carefully and judge accordingly of things scriptural.

SINCLAIR LEWIS will have to revise his "Main Street," as Sauk Centre, stirred by the advertising its noted son gave the village, is having that thoroughfare paved. The Sinclairs are known to many Brainerd people. Eber Baker was well acquainted with the author of the book.

AFTER the city of St. Paul and county board of control of Ramsey county spent large sums to improve the county farm power plant, it was discovered that $3,000 a year could be saved by buying power from utility companies.

IT is now claimed that a party of hardy Norse mariners pushed westward from our Atlantic seaboard in 1010 and crossed the Continent. Presumably the boys were looking for snuff, says the Portland Oregonian.

THE Soviet's much heralded advance in trade relations with England has broken down. The English, we believe, wanted some assurance that past debts contracted by Russia, would be paid.

SOME folks are naturally unlucky, says the Kansas City Star. Every time Senator Wheeler issues a new statement in behalf of the farmer, wheat goes up another nickle.

CONGRESSIONAL investigations have not ceased. About September 1 the senate will take a look at the income tax division and the prohibition unit.

EUROPE has a chance to see daylight and the adjustment of its financial affairs by adopting in full the Dawes plan.

THE 40 and 8 are getting more fame recently than the 90 and 9.

NEW BLAST FURNACE MADE AT UNIVERSITY

EXPECTED TO REVEAL SECRETS TO THE IRON INDUSTRY

MANGANIFEROUS IRON ORES OF CUYUNA RANGE ARE TESTED

(From St. Paul Daily News)

A new experimental iron blast furnace, which embodies all the best features determined by observations of the performances of other furnaces constructed by interior department specialists, has been completed and blown in at the Minneapolis experimental station of the bureau of mines.

The new experimental furnace is larger than the one constructed by the bureau of mines at Minneapolis last year, which was the first successful experimental blast furnace in the history of metallurgy. It is expected that metallurgical studies made possible by the construction of the new blast furnace will reveal valuable information relative to the production of spiegelisen from manganiferous iron ores, which cannot be smelted under present practice.

Since the United States has tremendous reserves of these manganiferous iron ores, the problem of their successful smelting is one of great importance to the iron industry.

30 Feet High

The present furnace, which was erected in co-operation with the University of Minnesota, is 36 inches in diameter at the hearth and 30 feet high. The first run lasted 10 days. Air was supplied to the furnace at the rate of about 600 cubic feet per minute, consuming approximately 8 tons of coke per day. From 15 to 20 tons of spiegelisen of varying manganese content was produced during the experiments. Several hundred gas samples were taken from the interior of the furnace shaft by means of water-cooled sample tubes.

The most striking feature of the furnace experiment in contrast with previous ones lies in the fact that a rather complete survey of the composition of the gas stream in the furnace shaft was possible. By introducing water-cooled sample tubes through various test-holes, it was possible to cover completely six planes. As early as 1839 Bunsen determined the composition of the gas in the blast furnace at various elevation from the tuyere to the stock line. His results have been duplicated in a dozen or more investigations. In all this research samples were taken from only one point in each horizontal plane.

1,000 Samples Taken

During the 34th and 35th runs with the bureau of mines furnaces over one thousand gas samples were taken at five elevations in the furnace shaft. These samples, however, all lay along a single diameter of the furnace section. The necessity of sampling over a complete section has long been recognized, but the difficulty of obtaining such samples in practice has heretofore not been overcome.

A considerable number of samples of raw materials, slag and metal, taken during the run, await analyzing. A study of the analysis of these samples, as well as the samples of gas removed from the charge column within the furnace, should throw considerable light upon the mechanism of the gas reactions taking place within the blast furnace shaft and should result in the obtaining of much valuable information relative to the production of spiegelisen from manganiferous iron ore.

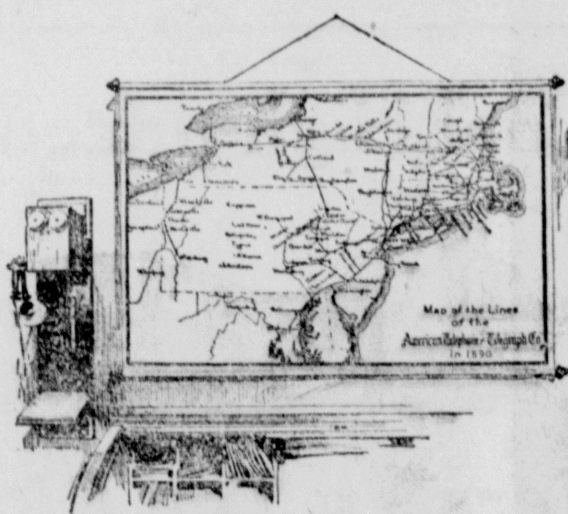

Led in Use of Iron

Either the ancient Assyrians or Egyptians were the first to use iron. The earliest pieces of iron now known came from Egypt, but it is probable that the Assyrians were the first to use the metal freely in the manufacture of tools, weapons and ornaments.

Pushing Back the Wall

"THE vast territory covered by these lines at once strikes the observer, and some conception may be had of the importance of the long distance telephone in the business world of the east."

This was the contemporary comment of a scientific journal on the long distance telephone service of 1890. The "vast territory" ended with Pittsburg on the west and Washington on the south. Along its frontier stood a wall of silence.

No such barrier now confines the voice of man. To places and to people he has never even seen fly his wire-borne thoughts. Over distances which it would take him days to travel his words speed in an instant.

The 90,000 miles of toll wire of 1890 have grown to more than 4,500,000 miles carrying a daily average of more than 1,600,000 long distance conversations.

Thus has the wall of silence been pushed back to the edges of the continent. In its place is a nation-wide telephone service.

SYNTHETIC LUMBER THE LATEST INVENTION

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Synthetic lumber is the latest discovery, according to B. S. Dahlberg, a manufacturer, who addressed a gathering of business men here. He said:
"This artificial lumber is made from bagasse, the crushed fibre of sugar-cane once destroyed as useless. Sugar-cane fibre from the annual crops in the United States and Cuba is sufficient to manufacture 50,000,000 feet of lumber every day.
"Synthetic lumber has advantages over natural wood. It has one-third the weight of pine. This means cheap freight costs and ease in handling. It has the insulating value of cork. This means cooler homes in summer and warmer houses in winter."

SYNTHETIC LUMBER THE LATEST INVENTION

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Synthetic lumber is the latest discovery, according to B. S. Dahlberg, a manufacturer, who addressed a gathering of business men here. He said:
"This artificial lumber is made from bagasse, the crushed fibre of sugar-cane once destroyed as useless. Sugar-cane fibre from the annual crops in the United States and Cuba is sufficient to manufacture 50,000,000 feet of lumber every day.
"Synthetic lumber has advantages over natural wood. It has one-third the weight of pine. This means cheap freight costs and ease in handling. It has the insulating value of cork. This means cooler homes in summer and warmer houses in winter."

Real "Sing-Song" Girls Appear in New Film

A sing-song girl! Isn't that a dainty, intriguing name? Is there any wonder that an imaginative American, adrift in a Chinese city, should seek out the haunts of these poor slaves of Oriental custom and attempt to free one from her bonds?

Howard Spurlock, played by Alfred Lunt, is the hero of "The Ragged Edge," a distinctive special feature now appearing at the Lyceum Theatre. Spurlock has run away from the United States and finds himself in Canton. He nearly loses his life through an escapade involving one of these sing-song girls.

"It is a sound-deadener, absorbing one-third of all the sound waves that strike against it."

VAMPIRE-MAN IS UNMOVED BY HORRIBLE CRIMES

HAS CONFESSED TO KILLING 14
YOUTHS, DUMPING BONES
INTO LEINE RIVER

SLAUGHTERED THEM BY TEAR-ING OPEN THROATS AND SUCKING THE BLOOD

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, Aug. 6.—Unmoved at the enormity of his crimes, Herr Haarmann, Hannover's "vampire murderer," has confessed to killing 14 youths, dumping their bones into the Leine River, and proceeding to hunt even more victims.

The police, whose stool pigeon he was, charge now that he killed at least 22, but Haarmann sitting in solitary confinement in the town jail of Hindenburg's home town, swears it "was only 14." Beyond that, he will not go. He refuses details of his operations and of the strange bloodlust that caused him to lure youths to his den in the shadow of police headquarters at Hannover and there slaughter them by tearing open their throats, vampirelike, and sucking their blood.

Nor will he tell the police anything to help them clear up the mystery of how he succeeded in a period of three years to slaughter so many victims without ever being suspected of such gross crimes. The police now recall that he had been held previously because some of his male acquaintances disappeared mysteriously, but they were unable to pin anything onto him. And it was only a short time ago that the Leine began giving up its dead, which finally opened the eyes of the police about their stool pigeon Haarmann.

Sold Flesh as Meat
They swooped down on his den, used as an old clothes shop and meat market and found some indications of his murderous pursuits; likewise made the revolting discovery that Haarmann, like the famous Berlin butcher-murderer, Grossmann, may have sold some of his victims' flesh as meat.

Further digging brought to light the character of Haarmann's activities. The Leine was drained and yielded up many bags of incriminating bones—mute evidence of Haarmann's murderous lust.

The police then unraveled a bit of the complicated story. Haarmann, and an accomplice lured youths to the den with promises of money, sometimes also telling them that they could be entertained by his mythical "beautiful 14-year-old daughter."

Worked Railroad Station
Haarmann operated chiefly around the Hannover railroad station. He had a false police document permitting him entrance to the building at all hours of the day and night. Here he found unemployed youths who had no homes, and besought them to share his quarters.

Most of the homeless needed no urging. They went willingly with the vampire, who gave them to eat and offered them a bed wherein to sleep.

But as they slept, Haarmann killed them, opening the jugular vein with his fang-like teeth. Then he chopped up the bodies and threw them, in sacks, into the Leine.

Let Out of Asylum
That Haarmann escaped the hand of the law so long has caused a storm of public anger in Hannover. Haarmann, it develops, was at one time in an insane asylum but was let out again despite the fact that the authorities then established that he was not "accountable" for any deeds he might commit. The public rage is the deeper since it has developed that Haarmann was permitted to engage in a number of shady deals simply because he helped the police with his stool-pigeon activities.

The affair has even taken on a political aspect. Efforts are being made to "get" District President Noske (former war minister) because of the link between the authorities and the vampire.

Haarmann is a tall, gorilla-like man.

From Respectable Family
He comes of a respectable family, who wanted to place him in the army. But it developed soon that he was mentally and physically unfit for the officer career. Thereafter he sunk rapidly into the depths of vice and degeneracy, going from theft and swindling to murder in its crassest forms.

When the case comes to trial, experts will be called in, and, under the German law, Haarmann, despite the horrorfulness of his crimes, will be leniently handled, if it is proven that he is a victim of a degeneracy complex which he could not master.

Perfidious savages

In the Torres Straits Islands in the East Indies, there are no trees suitable for canoe building. So the natives, a cruel, treacherous race, import their canoes from the Fly River Delta in New Guinea—another place with an unenviable reputation. The distance between these two places is over four hundred miles, and no native in that region travels even one-quarter of that distance.

The word is simply passed on from tribe to tribe. On the strength of this vague order a canoe is built. Then it is relayed back. Each tribe of bloodthirsty cannibals tests and discusses it before passing it on. Finally the payment, shell necklaces, spear points, arm bands, makes its way to the canoe builders in the same leisurely fashion.

There is reason for this honesty in savages to whom perfidy is natural. If any of the parties in this complicated transaction were to risk being dishonest, their credit would be ruined. And though these natives may kill and eat each other, they hold barter inviolate.

Even savages understand that in commerce it pays to be honest, and to let the world realize your honesty! So in modern business. Advertising must be honest and it is a proof of honesty. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its quality, usefulness and value.

The man who advertises is inviting your inspection. He is letting his goods stand on their own merit. He can't afford to deceive you. You can depend on him. That's why it pays to read advertising and to buy advertised goods.

Polarine

THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL

Made in Five Grades

Effects Marked Fuel Saving

Among the heaviest users of Polarine are trucking companies. These companies trace their costs, and operate their motors on a sound business basis. They have proved by tabulating their experience that Polarine pays.

One such company writes: "For the past six years we have been users of Polarine on our heavy duty motor trucks. Our experience shows that the use of Polarine reduces friction to a minimum, cuts our repairs costs and effects a considerable saving in fuel."

Polarine makes gasoline go further—it produces more mileage by reducing friction. Polarine forms a perfect seal around the piston, preventing escape of gasoline past the rings.

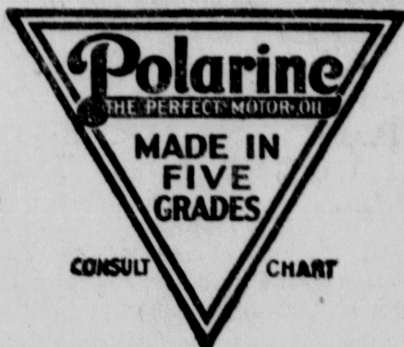

When you use the right grade of Polarine—the grade specified in the chart at the left—you conserve the power your motor develops, and you guard against undue dilution of oil in the crankcase.

To form this perfect piston seal in all motors, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures Polarine in five grades, differing only in body, weight and consistency. The right grade for your car is specified in the chart. This grade is the one right oil for your motor—the oil which gives you scientifically correct lubrication.

Drain your crankcase every 500 miles and refill with the correct grade of Polarine.

Put your car operation on a business basis.

VICTIM OF SAD LOVE ROMANCE

Leonard Engstrom, 25, of Rosburg, Succumbs to Self Inflicted Revolver Shot

NO TROUBLE WITH FIANCEE

Thought, However, He Was Standing in Her Way From Marrying Any One Else

Leonard Engstrom, aged 25 years, of Rosburg, passed away at St. Joseph's hospital at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, the result of a self-inflicted gun shot on Monday morning.

Mr. Engstrom had been engaged to a young lady from Rosburg for several years, and although there was never any trouble between them, he imagined, it is said, that he was standing in her way and keeping her from marrying someone else, an idea which was entirely wrong, as has been brought out since the shooting occurred.

Mr. Engstrom had been employed at the mines near Hibbing, and had only returned to Rosburg about a week ago. On Monday morning he went out in the woods to bring in a team of horses, and his younger brother, who was in the vicinity, heard the report of a gun. Knowing that no one should be hunting at this season of the year, he went to investigate the cause of the shooting, and the moans of his brother directed him to where the wounded man lay. A note to his fiancée lying beside him explained his action, and released her from all blame for the rash act.

The gun used was a 38 calibre army revolver, belonging to Engstrom's brother. It was held close to the man's forehead, just above the nose and the bullet being deflected a little, first going downward a short distance before entering the brain, an X-ray picture showed.

The wounded man was brought to the Brainerd hospital at once. He has been conscious practically all of the time until the morning of his death, talked to relatives and friends, told how he committed the shooting, and asked that his fiancée be absolved from any of the blame. She was at his bedside until the last, and did everything possible for his comfort.

Leonard Engstrom was born at Rosburg on April 19th, 1899. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knute Engstrom are old residents of that locality, in fact Mr. Engstrom, Sr., was born there.

Leonard is survived by four brothers and four sisters, being Charles and Enoch Engstrom, of Minneapolis, George and Victor, living at home, Betty, Albertina and Elbina of Minneapolis and Annie residing with her parents. One sister died about a year ago.

The body was taken to Rosburg this afternoon, and while definite funeral arrangements have not been completed, it is expected that the services will be conducted from the Swedish Lutheran church of that place on Friday afternoon, and interment made in the Rosburg cemetery beside the remains of his sister.

ALBERT LEA TOURISTS

Large Party Enjoying Delights of Brainerd Lake Region on Clark Lake

Miss Coral Banta, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Ihde, W. D. Carr and Lee Prentice of Albert Lea are spending several weeks at Nisswa, on Clark lake. They are at the Freeburg cottage.

Mrs. Ihde caught a big pickerel in Hubert lake this morning, and was overjoyed with her catch. The fish put up a tremendous fight and it required all of her angling skill to land her big catch.

Miss Banta had heard a lot about the Brainerd Lake Region when Brainerd Council of the United Commercial Travelers of America made a bid for the convention of the Minnesota and North Dakota jurisdiction.

"I was agreeably surprised," said she, "to find that every claim made about this wonderful region has been verified by our observation. We never before saw such beautiful scenery, so many shimmering lakes, and such fine fishing and good roads. We know when we go back home and tell our story that you'll find more Albert Lea people in this section enjoying your recreational advantages."

Nebraska Man, J. H. Sweet, Says Nebraska Governor Will Not be Elected This Fall

Alleges Charlie Bryan's Claim of Cheapening Gasoline is Only Bunk

"Skull-Cap Charlie Bryan, will not be elected this fall," said J. H. Sweet, of the Nebraska Daily Press, of Nebraska City, Nebraska, the oldest daily paper in the state, who is spending a vacation in the Brainerd Lake Region.

"Charlie is capitalizing his brother's reputation and his nomination in New York was brought about because the delegates wanted to placate W. J. B., after having nominated Davis, and so they made Charlie the tail of the kite."

"Charlie claims credit for having reduced the price of gasoline, but he has never explained why gasoline went down in Nebraska when he was in Minnesota fishing and why it went up in Nebraska four cents a gallon when he was home last Christmas."

With Mr. and Mrs. Sweet on their Minnesota vacation tour, are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stevenson, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Masen. Mr. Stevenson is county clerk of Otter county in which Nebraska City is located, and Mr. Masen is highway engineer of the same county.

The party are bound for International Falls and will visit the Misabe Iron range before returning home. They expect to spend a day or two at Breezy Point lodge.

EARLY DRAGGING HELPFUL

Roads So Treated Sunday Morning Erased Effects of Saturday Storm

(Little Falls Daily Transcript) Motorists returning from the northern part of the state on Sunday, found that on many roads in Crow Wing county dragging had been done early on the Sabbath day, following the heavy rains of Saturday night. These roads were in excellent shape for travel, but those which had not been dragged were not in the best of condition for easy motoring. Although the rain of Saturday night was one of the heaviest of the season the drainage is such on highways at this time that dragging could not be done successfully if left until this morning. Many wash-outs occurred on state highways during the rain and motoring was made dangerous Sunday, but these bad spots will be eliminated today by maintenance men.

VICTIM OF SAD LOVE ROMANCE

Leonard Engstrom, 25, of Rossburg, Succumbs to Self Inflicted Revolver Shot

NO TROUBLE WITH FIANCEE

Thought, However, He Was Standing in Her Way From Marrying Any One Else

Leonard Engstrom, aged 25 years, of Rossburg, passed away at St. Joseph's hospital at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, the result of a self-inflicted gun shot on Monday morning.

Mr. Engstrom had been engaged to a young lady from Rossburg for several years, and although there was never any trouble between them, he imagined, it is said, that he was standing in her way and keeping her from marrying someone else, an idea which was entirely wrong, as has been brought out since the shooting occurred.

Mr. Engstrom had been employed at the mines near Hibbing, and had only returned to Rossburg about a week ago. On Monday morning he went out in the woods to bring in a team of horses, and his younger brother, who was in the vicinity, heard the report of a gun. Knowing that no one should be hunting at this season of the year, he went to investigate the cause of the shooting, and the moans of his brother directed him to where the wounded man lay. A note to his fiancée lying beside him explained his action, and released her from all blame for the rash act.

The gun used was a 38 calibre army revolver, belonging to Engstrom's brother. It was held close to the man's forehead, just above the nose and the bullet being deflected a little, first going downward a short distance before entering the brain, an X-ray picture showed.

The wounded man was brought to the Brainerd hospital at once. He has been conscious practically all of the time until the morning of his death, talked to relatives and friends, told how he committed the shooting, and asked that his fiancée be absolved from any of the blame. She was at his bedside until the last, and did everything possible for his comfort.

Leonard Engstrom was born at Rossburg on April 19th, 1899. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knute Engstrom are old residents of that locality, in fact Mr. Engstrom, Sr., was born there.

Leonard is survived by four brothers and four sisters, being Charles and Enoch Engstrom, of Minneapolis, George and Victor, living at home, Betty, Albertina and Elbina of Minneapolis and Annie residing with her parents. One sister died about a year ago.

The body was taken to Rossburg this afternoon, and while definite funeral arrangements have not been completed, it is expected that the services will be conducted from the Swedish Lutheran church of that place on Friday afternoon, and interment made in the Rossburg cemetery beside the remains of his sister.

CARPENTIER SHOULD RETIRE FROM RING

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 6.—Georges Carpentier should retire from the prize ring. At 30 years of age, he rounded out a boxing career that has spanned more than 16 years by losing to Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion, on a technical knockout July 24. The riotous scenes that accompanied his passing were not to the credit of the game.

The Frenchman claimed he was fouled in the 14th round, and the United Press correspondent, at the ringside directly in front of where the fighters were struggling, thought that a vicious left hook of Tunney's, the hardest blow struck during the bout, landed a little low.

Georges exclaimed with pain as the champion's glove smacked home, and sank writhing to the canvas. Tunney, with a look of disgust on his face, made no further attempt to strike his opponent, but walked to his corner, muttering disgustedly: "Faker."

The scenes that followed beggared description. Francois Descamps, Carpentier's volatile manager, attempted to rip off Georges' trunks to show he had been fouled. There were several free-for-all fights, and the bout ended amidst pandemonium, with the Frenchman obviously in no shape to continue, bent nearly double, pushed into the ring with his second standing nearby, motioning with a final heroic gesture for Tunney to come on and finish him.

The American stood uncertainly, until Referee Andy Griffin raised his hand and declared him winner. Griffin could have disqualified Carpentier because Descamps and Gus Wilson, his trainer, were in the ring after the bell for the 15th round, but, instead, proclaimed Tunney winner on a technical knockout.

Was Carpentier fouled? The question probably never will be answered satisfactorily.

In the first place, let it be said emphatically that if he was, it was unintentionally on Tunney's part. Moreover, the referee, by chance, and despite what he says, was not in a position to see exactly where the blow landed.

The United Press correspondent was of the impression that the Frenchman was the victim of an unintentional foul blow, for two reasons:

(1) The blow that brought him down seemed to land low, and the apparent suffering of Carpentier immediately thereafter was convincing;

(2) If Georges had been "faking," he would have realized that the claim of foul had not been upheld, and when called upon to finish the fight, would have ignored the claim momentarily and fought out the 15th round, trusting to being able to stay the limit. Both he and Descamps would have no shame in doing this, if they thought he could last, as he certainly could have if not seriously hurt.

This was the situation, then, the morning after the fight. But what cast grave doubt upon the affair was a supplementary statement, issued by Carpentier, saying it was Tunney's knee that fouled him, not the blow. If this is Georges' story, then there is reason to doubt it.

As a matter of fact, in the heat of conflict, a boxer does not always know what has happened. Tunney, for instance, disclaiming having struck a foul blow, said he struck Georges in the stomach with "a right uppercut." The United Press correspondent, disclaiming infallibility, thought it was a left hook—which is what the slow-motion pictures showed!

Incidentally, these pictures were so blue-penciled that the whole story is not there.

So much for the foul. Aside from that, Georges was a beaten man. He absorbed terrific punishment, just as he did in his fight with Dempsey, and with Tommy Gibbons. At infighting, where the Americans excel, Carpentier is helpless, and the only wonder is how his ribs hold out.

The Frenchman made a gallant fight of it in the tenth round, when he was floored in the first 15 seconds by a sudden left smash to the jaw. He went down repeatedly, but came up each time, refused to permit the referee to stop the bout to save him from punishment, and was actually forcing the fighting in the ensuing rounds.

But aside from the off-chance that one of his erstwhile powerful right-hand swings would connect on the button and put Tunney out cold, the Frenchman never had a chance to win. The sight of Carpentier serving as a punching-bag for our light-heavyweights is not a pleasant one. Yet that is about all he is good for.

Carpentier should retire. He has fought some good fights, which he won, and lost some poor ones. He was at the height of his career in the second round against Dempsey at Jersey City. He was at his worst against Tunney. He can quit with credit—for his courage is not disputed, albeit he and Descamps have laid themselves open to charges of trickery—and quit he should.

THE GAME LAST NIGHT WENT AN EXTRA INNING

The B. A. C. team won an extra inning game from the Y. M. C. A. last night by the score of 5 to 4. This puts the winners in first place in the league standings, and drops the Y. M. C. A. to third place.

The Y was the first to score, chalking up one marker in the opening frame, when Hanson was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, and rode home on Ringer's double. The B. A. C. went into the lead in the fourth, when Thompson, Jones, Uddenberg and Imgrund hit safely, the last hit a two bagger, netting three runs in all. Again in the fifth, the B. A. C. scored one run, when Soderlund reached first on an error, stole second, took third on an infield out, and scored on Bernard's hit to short.

In their half the Y. M. C. A. made one run, Cunningham reaching first when Thompson made a wild heave to first, stole second and came home on Molstad's infield hit. C. made one run through errors, and the Y. M. C. A. was helpless with the stick in their half.

The batting stars were Ringer, with two doubles, Dillan with a single and double, and Jones with two singles. Soderlund and Peterson pitched fine ball throughout the game, and had fine control.

BREWERY WORKER MAKES HENS PAY

(By United Press)
London, (By mail).—There are all sorts of ways of amusing yourself. A London brewery-worker who raises chickens in his back-yard as a profitable side line, explained it this way at a poultry show here where there was a prize-winner: "Some men like to bet on 'horses'; some takes out their wives a-walking; some drinks beer. My 'obby is 'ens."

"I make my 'ens earn me fifteen shillings per 'ead per year—and at the end of it they saves me from paying fancy prices for Christmas dinner."

This man has his chicken-farm in a backyard which is only eighteen feet square. He is away from home so much, working at the brewery, that he has invented an alarm clock arrangement to feed the chickens while he is absent. He sets the clock at the time desired and its ringing releases a clutch whereby food, suspended by baskets, is lowered to the ground.

He has figured out another trick to fool his hens into laying overtime. He sets an alarm for four o'clock every morning. It not only releases food, but also lets a stream of water into an acetylene lamp. The hens think it is daylight and get up and go to work. He declares that he gets twenty per cent more eggs from his hens than his neighbors do from those that sleep all night.

CARPENTIER SHOULD RETIRE FROM RING

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 6.—Georges Carpentier should retire from the prize ring. At 30 years of age, he rounded out a boxing career that has spanned more than 16 years by losing to Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion, on a technical knockout July 24. The riotous scenes that accompanied his passing were not to the credit of the game.

The Frenchman claimed he was fouled in the 14th round, and the United Press correspondent, at the ringside directly in front of where the fighters were struggling, thought that a vicious left hook of Tunney's, the hardest blow struck during the bout, landed a little low.

Georges exclaimed with pain as the champion's glove smacked home, and sank writhing to the canvas. Tunney, with a look of disgust on his face, made no further attempt to strike his opponent, but walked to his corner, muttering disgustedly: "Faker."

The scenes that followed beggared description. Francois Descamps, Carpentier's volatile manager, attempted to rip off Georges' trunks to show he had been fouled. There were several free-for-all fights, and the bout ended amidst pandemonium, with the Frenchman obviously in no shape to continue, bent nearly double, pushed into the ring with his second standing nearby, motioning with a final heroic gesture for Tunney to come on and finish him.

The American stood uncertainly, until Referee Andy Griffin raised his hand and declared him winner. Griffin could have disqualified Carpentier because Descamps and Gus Wilson, his trainer, were in the ring after the bell for the 15th round, but, instead, proclaimed Tunney winner on a technical knockout.

Was Carpentier fouled? The question probably never will be answered satisfactorily.

In the first place, let it be said emphatically that if he was, it was unintentionally on Tunney's part. Moreover, the referee, by chance, and despite what he says, was not in a position to see exactly where the blow landed.

The United Press correspondent was of the impression that the Frenchman was the victim of an unintentional foul blow, for two reasons:

(1) The blow that brought him down seemed to land low, and the apparent suffering of Carpentier immediately thereafter was convincing;

(2) If Georges had been "faking," he would have realized that the claim of foul had not been upheld, and when called upon to finish the fight, would have ignored the claim momentarily and fought out the 15th round, trusting to being able to stay the limit. Both he and Descamps would have no shame in doing this, if they thought he could last, as he certainly could have if not seriously hurt.

This was the situation, then, the morning after the fight. But what cast grave doubt upon the affair was a supplementary statement, issued by Carpentier, saying it was Tunney's knee that fouled him, not the blow. If this is Georges' story, then there is reason to doubt it.

As a matter of fact, in the heat of conflict, a boxer does not always know what has happened. Tunney, for instance, disclaiming having struck a foul blow, said he struck Georges in the stomach with "a right uppercut." The United Press correspondent, disclaiming infallibility, thought it was a left hook—which is what the slow-motion pictures showed!

Incidentally, these pictures were so blue-penciled that the whole story is not there.

So much for the foul. Aside from that, Georges was a beaten man. He absorbed terrific punishment, just as he did in his fight with Dempsey, and with Tommy Gibbons. At infighting, where the Americans excel, Carpentier is helpless, and the only wonder is how his ribs hold out.

The Frenchman made a gallant fight of it in the tenth round, when he was floored in the first 15 seconds by a sudden left smash to the jaw. He went down repeatedly, but came up each time, refused to permit the referee to stop the bout to save him from punishment, and was actually forcing the fighting in the ensuing rounds.

But aside from the off-chance that one of his erstwhile powerful right-hand swings would connect on the button and put Tunney out cold, the Frenchman never had a chance to win. The sight of Carpentier serving as a punching-bag for our light-heavyweights is not a pleasant one. Yet that is about all he is good for.

Carpentier should retire. He has fought some good fights, which he won, and lost some poor ones. He was at the height of his career in the second round against Dempsey at Jersey City. He was at his worst against Tunney. He can quit with credit—for his courage is not disputed, albeit he and Descamps have laid themselves open to charges of trickery—and quit he should.

LEONARD-WALKER BOUT PLANS MADE

New York, Aug. 6.—At last things are under way for the Benny Leonard-Mickey Walker welterweight championship fracas. It is to be at the Yankee stadium Aug. 20, or Aug. 22, if it rains the first night. Walker and Billy Gibson resigned agreements yesterday with Jimmy Johnston, the matchmaker at the stadium. The two men are to go 15 rounds to a decision. One thing still is to be settled. Leonard is supposed to fight Pal Moran at Cleveland Aug. 11. The New York boxing commission has asked Gibson to put this fight over until after the Walker bout. Gibson promised to get in touch with the Cleveland promoters.

SULLIVAN IS TO MEET MARTIN AUG. 18

New York, Aug. 6.—Kid Sullivan, junior lightweight champion, has signed to meet Pepper Martin at the Queensboro stadium Aug. 18.

B. A. C. WINS FROM Y. M. C. A. BY 5-4 SCORE

WINNERS ADVANCE TO FIRST PLACE IN THE CITY LEAGUE

THE GAME LAST NIGHT WENT AN EXTRA INNING

The B. A. C. team won an extra inning game from the Y. M. C. A. last night by the score of 5 to 4. This puts the winners in first place in the league standings, and drops the Y. M. C. A. to third place.

The Y was the first to score, chalk-ing up one marker in the opening frame, when Hanson was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, and rode home on Ringer's double. The B. A. C. went into the lead in the fourth, when Thompson, Jones, Uddenberg and Imgrund hit safely, the last hit a two bagger, netting three runs in all. Again in the fifth, the B. A. C. scored one run, when Soderlund reached first on an error, stole second, took third on an infield out, and scored on Bernard's hit to short.

In their half the Y. M. C. A. made one run, Cunningham reaching first when Thompson made a wild heave to first, stole second and came home on Molstad's infield hit. The Y tied the score in the sixth, two runs coming in on successive doubles by Ringer, Peterson and Dillan. The seventh inning was blank, and the game went into extra innings. The B. A. C. made one run through errors, and the Y. M. C. A. was helpless with the stick in their half.

The batting stars were Ringer, with two doubles, Dillan with a single and double, and Jones with two singles. Soderlund and Peterson pitched fine ball throughout the game, and had fine control.

The score by innings:

London, (By mail).—There are all sorts of ways of amusing yourself. A London brewery-worker who raises chickens in his back-yard as a profitable side line, explained it this way at a poultry show here where there was a prize-winner:

"Some men like to bet on 'horses'; some takes out their wives a-walkin'; some drinks beer. My 'obby is 'ens."

"I make my 'ens earn me fifteen shillings per 'ead per year—and at the end of it they saves me from paying fancy prices for Christmas dinner."

This man has his chicken-farm in a backyard which is only eighteen feet square. He is away from home so much, working at the brewery, that he has invented an alarm clock arrangement to feed the chickens while he is absent. He sets the clock at the time desired and its ringing releases a clutch whereby food, suspended by baskets, is lowered to the ground.

He has figured out another trick to fool his hens into laying overtime. He sets an alarm for four o'clock every morning. It not only releases food, but also lets a stream of water into an acetylene lamp. The hens think it is daylight and get up and go to work. He declares that he gets twenty per cent more eggs from his hens than his neighbors do from those that sleep all night.
